Local TV Show on Beekeeping

The local East Wake TV channel will air a series of TV shows featuring fellow members Mitchell Wrenn, Bob Matheny, and others. If you do not receive the East Wake TV channel you may look up the videos online at: <http://ewtv.org> EWTv 22

Once you are on the website, look to the right of the screen under the Special Events: click on the link Learning About Beekeeping to view the video. A second video will also be online in January where they cut down a tree with a feral hive inside. Below are photos submitted by Bob Matheny of a feral hive that was found inside the tree they cut down.

Upcoming NCSBA Events

- Check the NCBSA website for detailed information on these events:
<http://www.ncbeekeepers.org/news.htm>
- The NCSBA holds statewide conventions twice a year, in the Spring and Summer.

In odd-numbered years, the Spring Meeting is held jointly with the South Carolina Beekeepers Association, alternating locale between states.

- The NCSBA Spring Meeting will be held: March 4-5, 2011
NC/SC Spring Meeting in Dallas, NC

December Meeting Summary

- The Holiday dinner was enjoyed by all. Thanks to everyone who was able to attend!
- Kevin Wooten from the USDA spoke briefly on government assistance and insurance programs for beekeepers. Kevin will return to the January meeting to provide more information on both these programs. On the WCBA website you can read more about these programs. If you have any questions before the January meeting about the insurance and/or the assistance programs for beekeepers contact Kevin Wooten at: kevin.wooten@nc.usda.gov
- A beautiful frame piece of artwork of a beekeeper was auctioned off and the raffle was a nuc at the December meeting.

Bob Matheny will be collecting used beekeeping equipment at the January meeting.

The equipment will be sent to beekeepers in Uganda.

A collection box will be located on the stage at the January meeting. You may email Bob with questions at: bmatheny@nc.rr.com

January in the Bee Yard

During the month of January make sure entrance reducers are still in place on each colony and that each entrance is open and not clogged with dead bees.

January is an ideal time to order supplies, make repairs, assemble new equipment and get everything ready for the season ahead.

On a warm sunny day with calm winds, walk around the bee yard and observe the activity at the entrance of each hive.

Closely examine hives with no activity. Close the entrance of any hive that has died out and check for brood diseases before moving that equipment to another hive for clean up.

If the bees are flying and carrying pollen, then that colony is alive and most likely raising brood.
